MAN'S FINGER TIP BITTEN OFF IN DOG ATTACK

A PENSIONER is recovering after part of his finger was bitten clean off by an out-of-control bull terrier which was savaging one his dogs.

The shocking incident happened on Saturday afternoon as 69-year-old Barney Webb took his rescue lurchers Winnie and Annie and greyhound Erin for a stroll in the Sunners area of Harlow.

Mr Webb had just left his home in Halyday House when the white-and-tan terrier hurtled towards his dogs, clamping its jaws around the leg of six-year-old Winnie.

As he desperately tried to drag the vicious animal off, it turned on him, biting the top off one of his fingers before snapping at his legs.

"There was blood everywhere, but I was more worried about Winnie," said Mr Webb. "I thought this dog was going to kill her.

"It just wouldn't let go and the owners were nowhere to be seen. It didn't even have a collar on."

Passers-by rushed to his aid but it was only after police and dog handlers arrived on the scene that the dog was finally caught and restrained.

Mr Webb was treated at the scene by paramedics before being taken to hospital in Chelmsford for emergency plastic surgery on his wounded finger.

"They told me they hadn't managed to salvage the tip as it had most probably been swallowed by the dog," he said. "But they pulled the skin together to stop the bleed-

Misery for motorists as first snow brings traffic to a standstill

ESSEX County Council has apologised for failing to mobilise its fleet of gritters quickly enough to prevent traffic grinding to a halt across Harlow yesterday (Wednesday). The town was covered in a blanket of snow for the first time this winter, but angry motorists venturing out onto the roads found many of the main routes had not been gritted. The result was traffic chaos, with Southern Way and parts of the A414 remaining completely gridlocked for several hours as drivers struggled to get to work.

The Star was inundated with messages from drivers stuck in their cars. One tweeted: "Why the HELL haven't gritters been out in Harlow? We saw the weather forecast last pm, why didn't the council?" Another said: "Utter gridlock out there. Surely my council or road tax covers gritting roads?" In a statement released yesterday afternoon, ECC's cabinet member for highways and transportation Derrick Louis said the severe weather was unexpected, despite warnings from the Met Office on Tuesday evening that snow was set to hit parts of the county.

"I would like to sincerely apologise for the travel disruption that our residents have experienced due to the severe weather," he said. "The snowfall was not expected at this time, but as soon as information reached us our gritting fleet was mobilised."

"Our focus now is on treating our main road network throughout the day to prevent roads from becoming icy."

Essex Police said there were more than 70 snow-related road accidents across the county yesterday morning. The weather also caused several schools in Harlow to close for the day.

Crash victim killed on bike bought two weeks earlier

TRIBUTES have been paid to a motorcyclist killed in a road crash on Friday afternoon.

Reinis Liepins (22), of Hollyfield, Harlow, struck a concrete bollard after appearing to lose control of his Kawasaki bike while travelling along Flex Meadow at 12.30pm.

Despite frantic attempts by paramedics to save his life, Mr Liepins was declared dead at the scene.

Police closed the road off in both directions for five hours as crash investigators assessed the scene in a bid to establish the cause of the accident.

A 37-year-old lorry driver from Maidenhead in Berkshire was arrested on suspicion of causing death by careless driving at the scene of the crash. He is currently on police bail until March 3 pending further enquiries.

Police have this week issued an appeal for any witnesses to come forward.

Mr Liepins' distraught girlfriend Kristine said he had only purchased his motorbike two weeks before the crash.

"He was a very honest, loving, affectionate and friendly person whom I loved very much," she said. "He was always cheerful and happy and a very good friend for everyone."

The couple moved to Harlow seven months ago after Mr Liepins secured a job with Staffline at the Tesco distribution centre in Pinnacles.

Anyone with information about the crash should call the Serious Collision Investigation Unit on 101 or email collisionappeal@essex.pnn.police.uk.

Party time for hospital's young patients

SANTA put in a special appearance at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital on Sunday during a Christmas party for young patients.

He distributed a sackful of gifts donated by the Kisses4Kids charity during the party for youngsters on Dolphin Ward and their siblings. Stacey Johnson, who founded the charity, said: "The party was the best ever and all the children had a brilliant time. "They all loved their gifts; it was so amazing to see all their smiling faces."

ing and sewed it up, so now I'm just waiting to see what it looks like when the bandages come off."

Winnie, a rescue dog from Essex-based shelter Southern Lurcher Rescue, sustained serious injuries to her legs, groin and abdomen during the attack. She is currently being treated by vets at Companion Care, in Edinburgh Way.

Although she is expected to make a full recovery, Mr Webb could be left facing a vets' bill of over £1,000.

"The vets have been absolutely fantastic, they couldn't have done more for Winnie," said Mr Webb. "They've told me she should make a full recovery, although she's been left absolutely traumatised by her ordeal."

He added: "I just can't help but think what could have happened if it had been a family with young children out walking their dogs. A youngster wouldn't have stood a chance against this animal."

"I've been a dog lover all my life and never like to see animals being put down, but this dog is a danger to people's lives."

Essex Police said they had managed to trace the owners of the dog and were now making further enquiries.

A spokesman added: "Investigating officers are currently considering what action to take next, which could include seeking the dog's destruction under the Dangerous Dogs Act."

Suzy praises dedication of stroke group volunteers

THE "inspirational" work of a voluntary group set up to provide help and support to the victims of stroke has been praised by Labour's parliamentary hopeful for Harlow.

Suzy Stride said she had been touched by the selfless dedication of volunteers at the Harlow Stroke Support Group after visiting the charity's headquarters at the Great Parndon Community Association. "Hearing the stories of stroke survivors underlines the importance of having groups such as Harlow Stroke Support Group, who do so much vital work in empowering and equipping stroke survivors in our town," she said. The group, which was set up in 1996, now boasts 180 members and runs a popular speech and communication group once a month. Over the past year almost 2,800 people, including 114 stroke survivors, have attended HSSG meetings or outings.

Stroke support manager Jean Miley said: "The difference [the group] makes is remarkable. "Christmas can be an especially difficult time, as some people are self conscious about going to family events. However, after a couple of months with our group, their confidence grows. "We show them that there is still a quality of life to be had." Ms Stride added: "It was particularly inspiring to meet Jean. She has led the group admirably in challenging times."

Club hopes disco will make it a 'net' profit

A SPORTS group set up to help women get back into netball is hoping to score big with a fundraising Christmas disco.

Dreamers Netball Club hope the festive fundraiser, which will be held at Paringdon Sports Club tomorrow (Friday), will bring in more than £500 to help keep the team going. Captain Charlie Fisk (31) said: "Ideally we would love to raise around £700 but as an independent club anything is a help. We are really keen to get as many people involved and raise as much money as possible."

The club was set up in 2008 as part of Harlow Council's 'Get Back Into Netball' scheme. It has already secured the use of netball courts at Paringdon Sports Club for the next year thanks to a donation from Harlow MP Robert Halfon.

But Charlie said the Dreamers now need money for new kit, extra equipment and umpire fees as the club's roster of new players continues to expand.

"The advantage to being an independent club is the freedom; we make it fun and social which is important," she said. "However, our biggest problem is the financial aspect. We decided to continue the 'back to netball' sessions off our own back and would like to start another team with these members, but equipment, affiliation, umpires and kit is all very expensive.

"Realistically we would love to receive sponsorship from a local company."

Training sessions are held every Tuesday evening at Paringdon Sports Club from 7pm. Tickets for the Christmas disco cost £5; for more information, call Charlie on 07944 581332.

Six-run Sam plans to carry on fundraising

A GRATEFUL dad is on a one-man mission to raise as much money as possible for Princess Alexandra Hospital as a thank you for saving his baby son's life.

Sam Snelling (29), of Victoria Gate, Harlow, has already completed a series of gruelling physical challenges over the past six months which have raised £3,000 for the neonatal intensive care unit at PAH.

His son, Ralph, was born seriously ill after ingesting meconium – faecal matter in the amniotic fluid – during his birth, causing his lungs to collapse and kidneys to fail.

But after spending six days in the unit receiving round-the-clock care, Ralph made a remarkable recovery and is now a healthy, happy child about to celebrate his second birthday.

"I couldn't have asked for more from everyone who helped Ralph and my wife at what was an incredibly distressing time for us as a family," said Sam.

By BIANCA CASTRO
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

"I could never fully repay that debt but I feel like I am now doing something worthwhile by fundraising for the unit that saved my son's life."

Sam has already had his legs and armpits waxed, completed a charity bike ride and organised a quiz night.

His latest venture saw him take on the gruelling Men's Health Survival of the Fittest assault course with two friends.

Sam said: "The race was tough and easy at the same time – easy in the respect that I thought I was going to struggle more than I did!"

He is now busy planning fundraising events for next year, with cake sales, another quiz night and charity runs all in the offing.

"I'm going to be taking part in six BUPA runs, which average around 10km each," he said.

"However, the first one is in Manchester on the weekend of my son's birthday and christening, which I can't miss. "Instead, I'll be running the equivalent distance around Harlow and finishing at the neonatal unit, which should provide a kick-start to the fundraising campaign for next year."

Gift fair raises £2.3k for epilepsy charity

A CRAFT and gift fair raised more than £2,300 for epilepsy research.

The event at the Memorial Hall in Sawbridgeworth was organised by Nicki Walker, of Longbanks, Harlow, in memory of her sister, Tania Knight.

Hundreds of people visited the fair which featured stalls selling various handmade goods. There was also a raffle, while the kitchen team was kept busy selling homemade cakes.

Nicki said: "I want to say a huge thank you to everyone who helped and attended in order to make the event the success that it was.

"We will continue to do our best to raise as much money as we can for this very worthy cause and hopefully one day a cure will be found for this debilitating condition."

HWRA supporters start fund to fight closure

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

SUPPORTERS of Harlow Welfare Rights & Advice Service have set up a fighting fund in a bid to fend off the threat of closure.

More than 80 people attended a public meeting at St Paul's Church Hall on Saturday in a show of solidarity for HWRA after Harlow Council terminated its contract with the service over unpaid debts.

HWRA, which operates out of the Advice Centre in East Gate, has been unable to pay the money it owed to the authority – understood to be in the region of £120,000 – because of a “temporary” cashflow problem and had asked for more time to settle the debt.

But the council, which provided 27 per cent of the service's core funding, refused to agree to a phased repayment plan and last month declared HWRA insolvent before terminating its contract.

Speakers at Saturday's meeting laid the blame squarely at the feet of the council's senior officers, claiming they had supplied the administration with inaccurate information and forced the cabinet to abandon the service.

After former Harlow MP Stan Newens called for the service to be maintained, acting chair of trustees Les Coben told the meeting: “We asked for a couple of months to pay. This has been allowed in the past and, in fact, the council has on occasion been late in paying HWRA.”

“We believe the officers have been working against HWRA and it all dates back to 2009 when the service won a judicial review over a massive funding cut. These officers have got it in for us.”

He said discussions about the service's future had been conducted in secrecy and HWRA representatives had not been allowed to meet councillors to explain their funding issues.

His claims were backed up by Labour councillor Wanda Forman, a former client of HWRA who said confidentiality rulings prevented her from disclosing what had been said at the behind-closed-doors meetings.

Cllr Jon Clempner, who recently resigned his cabinet post in protest over the HWRA crisis, told the forum he had constantly challenged legal advice put forward by officers.

“I am very unhappy with the way councillors and officers have handled this particular situation,” he said, “but it is very difficult to challenge legal advice. We were given specific information by officers which could not be ignored, not legally in any case.”

Former Labour councillor Jim Rogers, who was leader of the authority during the 1990s, said he felt recent instability within the authority had allowed senior officers to assume greater powers.

“Since May we have had a new Labour administration but the majority of these new councillors are very inexperienced,” he said.

“While the cat's away the mice will play and the mice are still playing. The council has been given biased information and biased advice.”

After two hours of debate, the meeting agreed to set up a fighting fund and adopt a motion calling on the authority to find a solution to enable the current service to continue to operate.

The council has given HWRA until tomorrow (Friday) to vacate the Advice Centre before it takes action to evict staff, who have also been handed redundancy notices.

When asked if it would now give the service more time while it considered the resolution passed at Saturday's meeting, a council spokesman declined to comment and said the matter was now in the hands of its legal department.

Thousands turn out to see town light up

LET THERE BE LIGHTS: Sawbridgeworth mayor Barry Hodges prepares to switch on the Christmas lights with help from Sam Girling, Darcie Derrick, Chloe Gregory, Lara Hodges and Abi Hodges

THE festive spirit was alive and kicking in Sawbridgeworth when some 3,000 people turned out for the switching-on of the town's Christmas lights.

Families filled the streets for Friday's seasonal spectacular, which included a special appearance by Santa Claus accompanied by the ATC marching band. Spectators stood shoulder-to-shoulder as they counted down to the official switch-on by town mayor Cllr Barry Hodges, pictured left, and his three grandchildren.

This year the town centre illuminations have been extended to include London Road in addition to Bell Street, The Square, Church Street and Knight Street.

Other attractions included children's face painting, Santa's grotto, fairground rides and stalls selling a range of Yuletide refreshments.

The evening's festivities also included an appearance by the cast of Rhodes panto Cinderella as well as performances by the Leventhorpe School choir and ukulele band, pupils from Reedings Junior and Spellbrook Primary schools, Youth Create and Jo Jingles. Town clerk Richard Bowran said: “There were record numbers this year and the feedback has been absolutely fantastic.”

“People have been saying it was the best ever and how are we going to top it next year.”

Modellers to show off their work at exhibition

MEMBERS of a model boat group in Harlow will be setting sail for London next month when they take part in a national exhibition.

The Moorhen Model Boat Club, now in its 30th year, will be showing off their handiwork at the London Model Engineering Exhibition in Alexandra Palace.

More than 15,000 people are expected to visit the three-day event at which over 1,000 models will be on display.

Moorhen member Keith Henley said: “It gives us the opportunity to showcase our work at a highly regarded exhibition, meet like-minded modellers and also encourage visitors, both young and old, into the hobby.”

The show runs from January 18 - 20 from 10am-5pm daily. For more information about Moorhen Model Boat Club, visit www.mmbc.webplus.net.

Police seeking teen victim of sex assault on holiday island

ESSEX Police are trying to trace a young woman who they believe was sexually assaulted while on holiday in Corfu.

They have launched an investigation after detectives in Harlow were handed a video of the shocking incident, which happened in a hotel room in the Kavos region of the holiday island during the early hours of Monday, July 30.

It is believed the victim, thought to be in her late teens, was assaulted after she had been drinking heavily and passed out.

Detective Inspector Hayley King said: “We do not know when the young woman returned to the UK or which airport she flew back into, but we strongly believe that she is from the UK.

“The offence took place in a hotel room. We don't yet know which hotel it is in Kavos – and there are many.”

In a bid to help the woman identify herself, police have revealed that she was wearing a number of coloured wristbands obtained from local clubs at the time of the assault.

Anyone with information which could help the investigation should contact Essex Police's sexual offences investigation team on (01279) 625428 or email soit@essex.pnn.police.uk.

MP hails decision to scrap fuel duty hike

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW MP Robert Halfon has welcomed Chancellor George Osborne's decision to scrap January's planned 3p rise in fuel duty.

Speaking to the Star after the Chancellor delivered his Autumn Statement in the House of Commons yesterday (Wednesday), Mr Halfon insisted the move would "put fuel in the tank of the British economy".

Mr Halfon has been at the forefront of a high-profile campaign to drive down the spiralling cost of fuel on the nation's forecourts, but was criticised last month when he refused to vote in favour of a Labour motion calling on the Government to defer the proposed duty hike until April next year.

At the time, he said he had not rebelled because he believed the Government would axe the increase completely. And yesterday he said Mr Osborne's announcement had proved he was right to have shown faith in the Chancellor.

"This was a Robin Hood statement," said Mr Halfon. "George Osborne has put fuel in the tank of the British economy."

"He has not just delayed Labour's 3p petrol tax but scrapped it altogether. This will save an ordinary motorist in Harlow around £80 next year."

"When families are hard-pressed, the Government should do everything to keep the cost of living down, which is why I am delighted that the Chancellor has listened and frozen fuel duty again."

But Harlow's Labour parliamentary hopeful Suzy Stride said the Autumn Statement as a whole showed the Government had failed to "balance the books".

"It's good the Government have finally taken Labour's advice and stopped the fuel duty rise but they have had to admit they are failing on the one test they set themselves - to balance the books and get the debt down by 2015."

"They're failing on jobs and growth, with the economy shrinking this year."

"While millionaires get a £3bn tax cut, it is people who are already struggling to make ends meet who are affected. Middle and lower income families and pensioners are paying the price for this failure."

Celebration of sporting achievement

CHRISTMAS came early for more than 500 children when the Harlow-based President's Sporting Club and Essex Disabled Sports Foundation held its annual sports awards lunch at North Weald Airfield.

The glitzy bash celebrated the sporting endeavour and achievements of children with special needs across the region.

It was hosted by former world heavyweight boxing champion Frank Bruno, who has been president of the charity for the past 25 years. Other celebrities from the world of sport included Spurs legend Ossie Ardiles and Paralympic gold medalist Dan Bentley.

Also present was Harlow Council chairwoman Maggie Hulcoop.

Pupils from Harlow Fields School and College were among the youngsters invited to the event, which also featured a traditional Christmas lunch, live cabaret and a disco.

Club chairman Mike Jackson said the day had gone "exceptionally well".

"It is the 27th year that we have done this and everything went to plan," he said. "The awards are about every level of sport, not just those who excel in it."

"It is all about encouraging children with special needs to take part in sports."

He added: "My personal highlight was a text message I got afterwards from a mum saying that her little girl had not yet stopped talking about it."

"The winners were absolutely delighted as anyone can see from the photos."

Studio celebrations as radio station marks first anniversary

AN online radio station celebrated its first anniversary by inviting listeners to meet the presenters and see what goes on behind the scenes at its studios in Little Walk.

Hawks Radio was launched by former Harlow Town FC chairman Steve Ray and is staffed entirely by volunteers. It broadcasts specialist music shows, features on local bands, coverage of Harlow Town FC games and discussions on local issues.

Mr Ray said: "With the superb help of all the wonderful volunteers who donate so much of their time, Hawks Radio is achieving far beyond my dreams of how a community radio station should succeed."

Station manager Kate Greer added: "We give young people from Harlow and the surrounding areas the opportunity to take part in the day-to-day running of a radio station.

"Through presenting live radio shows they are not only building their confidence but are learning a new skill, which I wish I'd had the opportunity to do at their age."

Among those who attended the open day was Harlow MP Robert Halfon, pictured right with presenter Andy Ball.

£3.5m flats plan for YWCA block

PLANS to transform Harlow's vacant YWCA building into a 'sustainable' block of flats were unveiled by the site's owners this week.

Circle Housing Group wants to refurbish the dilapidated seven-storey tower block in Fourth Avenue to provide 42 apartments, half of which would be designated as affordable rented accommodation for people on Harlow Council's housing register.

The housing association plans to put the remaining 21 flats up for sale under a shared ownership scheme, helping first-time buyers get a foot on the property ladder.

The £3.5m project would also be good news for neighbouring music venue The Square, which will be offered a 10-year extension to its lease as part of the deal.

Speaking after a public consultation meeting held on Friday, Circle's assistant director of development Ian Christmas said the not-for-profit firm hoped the plans would be approved in time for work to start next summer.

"The consultation meeting was attended by local residents and the chair and representatives from Harlow Civic Society, and all expressed their wholehearted support for our proposals," he told the Star.

"We are now waiting for planning permission, which should be granted next spring. We hope to start work next summer and the flats should be ready in the summer of 2014."

He added: "Nominations for the properties will come from the council housing register. The Square will be able to continue to operate as we have offered them a 10-year lease to secure their future."

The flats will have no allocated parking, with the housing association planning to offer new tenants a free pushbike or bus pass to encourage the use of public transport.

Harlow Civic Society vice-chairman John Curry said his group welcomed the proposals.

"The building has stood neglected and empty for far too long now, so we are very happy to see these inventive and well-thought-out plans submitted," he said.

"This is exactly the kind of development we need in Harlow. It's sustainable, on a brownfield site and will help address the town's shortage of affordable housing."

He added: "I sincerely hope that other developers will take inspiration from what Circle are proposing. There are plenty of other brownfield sites in Harlow that could be transformed in a similar way."

Maid of money! Guitarist's home for sale for £6.75m

THE Sheering home of Iron Maiden guitarist Steve Harris is up for sale for £6,750,000.

The seven-bedroom Grade II listed property - which comes with its own recording studio, fully equipped pub, cinema room, floodlit tennis court and indoor swimming pool - is described by Hamptons International as "an outstanding country house in a highly sought-after area."

According to the Domesday Book, there has been a house on the site since the 11th century and parts of the current structure date back to 1427.

Harris (56) is a founder member of the heavy metal band and recently released his first solo album, British Lion.

Time bandits steal designer watches

The burglars broke a window to gain entry to the property some time between 1.30pm and 8.30pm on Saturday.

Detective Constable Victoria Joy said: "As well as appealing for any witnesses to the burglary, we are also seeking information from anyone who has been offered a white Tag Heuer Gran Carrera or silver Nautica watch to buy."

Anyone with information about the burglary should call detectives at Harlow police station on 101 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

SIR, The recent heavy rains and flooding have shown the importance of effective and adequate land drainage.

This, of course, is one of the main issues the many opponents of new developments around Harlow have been concerned about – myself included – and have raised when objecting to planning applications for the likes of Gilden Way and the proposed development at West Summers.

Before you can even consider concreting over farmland or any land there is a need to ensure the water that will run off has somewhere to go and the infrastructure – drains, pipes, waterways etc – are large enough and capable of dealing with not just normal run off but the possibility of dealing with extreme rainfall and floodwater such as we have had lately.

As things stand, the fields become waterlogged and the water, to a degree, is held on the land. Build on it and we increase the run-off exponentially.

The watercourses and drainage pipework in Harlow is at full stretch already. This needs to be addressed by the water companies and the developers before any further development can take place to prevent catastrophic flooding from affecting low-lying areas in Harlow caused by our drainage infrastructure being ignored.

Councillor Nick Churchill (Conservative)
Brockley Mead, Harlow

Stop the mud-slinging and work for good of the town

SIR, How disingenuous can you get? Harlow Labour Party were quick to blame the Conservatives for the decision to build 1,100 homes on land to the north of Gilden Way because Eric Pickles' office has agreed with a planning inspector's views to that effect, but the case is not quite so clear cut.

In 2006 Harlow's then Labour-controlled council decided to include the land in its Replacement Local Plan and in 2008 the Labour government included it in its Regional Spatial Strategy. Both seem to have weighed heavily in the planning inspector's mind when making his decision to allow the development.

More recently, when Conservative councillors asked for an item of urgent business to debate the issue at a full council meeting, Labour councillor and council chairman Maggie Hulcoop refused. When Old Harlow councillor Mike Garnett asked the council leader to move a suspension of standing orders to allow a debate, he too said 'no'.

I have come to expect the Labour Party in Harlow to sling mud about issues but with something as big as this, why can't they put aside partisan blinders and work with the Conservatives for the good of our town?

Cllr Eddie Johnson (Conservative)
Old Orchard, Harlow

We must present a united front to defeat these plans

SIR, As an Old Harlow councillor for some eight years, I have always tried to do my best for my constituents. I believe that, at the local level, residents expect their representatives to put to one side party political differences and do what they think is best for the local community.

Though I was unable to express a personal

Developers can't ignore the threat from flooding

THIS week's photo of an October frost was sent in by reader Tracey Jacobs, of Aynsley Gardens, Harlow

"It is of Harlow Common, taken from the end of Red Lion Lane on October 7," writes Tracey. "It was taken with just a cell phone with no fancy enhancements, proving that Church Langley is truly a beautiful area."

● Do you have a photo taken in Harlow that you think is good enough to feature in the Photo of the Week section? If so, we would love to see it.

opinion on the Gilden Way proposals given my position on the development management committee (planning committee), I listened to all points of view and when it came to the crunch I was able to speak up for the residents opposing the development at the public inquiry.

I was pleased that all three parties showed a united front in fighting these proposals.

However, I was very disappointed to read in the Star that because the developers had won their appeal, the Labour Party chose to misrepresent the situation so that they could take cheap shots at the Conservatives.

They conveniently forget that the planning measures which propped up the inspector's findings were all forged under a Labour administration – the Local Plan and the Regional Spatial Strategy formulated by the now defunct regional assembly. I understood that the RSS was no longer in force but it seems that it is still operating.

It is because of my commitment to the community I represent that I will be supporting in council the call for a judicial review. I hope Labour members will put politics aside and do likewise.

Closure of advice service a manifestation of class war

SIR, The complacent self-satisfied remarks of Simon Carter with respect to Harlow Welfare Rights and Advice Service (Letters, November 22) are typical of the neo-liberal mentality that has dominated political discourse in this country since the Blairites re-fashioned the Labour Party in the image of the post-Heath Conservatives.

The social democrats and 'one nation' Tories who once governed the land would probably have regarded the provision of a fully funded advice service as unproblematic.

The Advice Centre is not a factory and those who characterise its problems as a failure to "live within its means" demonstrate that, while they may know the price of everything, they know the value of nothing.

Neo-liberal economics has brought us the greatest economic crash since 1929, but dinosaurs such as Mr Carter insist on repeating the discredited mantras of the stinking zombie corpse of a doctrine that died in the ashes of Lehman Brothers on September 15, 2008.

Those who enrich themselves by exploiting the working classes of the world receive the finest advice that money can buy on how to avoid paying more than a modicum of tax on their ill-gotten gains. Rather than object to such anti-social selfishness, Mr Carter chooses instead to attack the comparatively microscopic cost of the advice provided by Harlow Welfare Rights and Advice Service to the impoverished victims of these tax-dodging billionaires.

The American business magnate Warren Buffett has said: "There's class warfare all right, but it's my class, the rich class, that's making war – and we're winning."

Reductions in wages, benefits and public services are all manifestations of this class war. In opposing the provision of a first-rate advice service to working class people in Harlow, Mr Carter makes clear which side he supports. That Harlow's Labour councillors have also chosen to take the side of Warren Buffet's class is a disgrace.

John Wake

Police force are part of society's power struggle

SIR, The recent election for Police and Crime Commissioners was certainly a shambles and not the way to introduce democracy into police governance.

But policing and police governance are political matters (Letters, November 22). Why else would the Government introduce such a radical change, despite widespread criticism of the principle, if it was not part of their political agenda?

That being so, of course other political parties had to participate.

The police are not simply benign, disinterested custodians of the public good. They are a part of the power structure of our society and their primary function is to maintain the current distribution of power.

Questions such as the relationship between crime and the state of the economy, the relative value of property and life, institutional racism and sexism in the force, policing of strikes and demonstrations are highly political. These issues need to be debated in much greater depth than they are currently being.

Further, like all institutions from a tiddleywinks club to the monarchy, the police have their own agenda which will influence their attitude to all those issues.

Frank Jackson
Kingsmoor Road, Harlow

Turnout was low but there was good news for some

SIR, The elections across England for Police and Crime Commissioners were undoubtedly an organisational fiasco so far as the Government was concerned, but out of the ashes there was some good news locally.

Whilst the turnout of voters was low, the number of volunteers and their families who helped the candidates deserve a huge thank you. Thousands of volunteers worked unbelievably hard.

In my own case I think the English Democrats sent out a clear statement of intention to the political establishment. With a small budget compared to other parties, we managed to achieve some fantastic results in the elections even in areas where we were up against the big spending parties.

We came in second in South Yorkshire, polling a hefty 22,608 first preference votes and also an overall majority of uncounted second preference votes. In every area where we stood, the English Democrats saved our deposits and chalked up some remarkable results.

These results bode well for our future development, especially with an eye on the 2014 European elections where the form of proportional representation actually makes it possible for smaller parties to get elected.

It is good to know we still have thousands who will volunteer to stand up for what they believe is the right thing to do, however disinterested the electorate. One day they will thank us; one day perhaps they'll vote.

Robin Tilbrook (chairman), The English Democrats
Willingale, Ongar

Government must force energy cartels to reform

SIR, We don't know whether the expected freeze on fuel duty with which Robert Halfon's vote was bought will endure throughout the financial year since most of the Chancellor's plans are, predictably, off course.

It's becoming clearer that, had we followed the last government's plans, we would now be experiencing real and sustainable growth and long-term employment (not part-time underemployment) with the tax revenue that would bring in, so how does he propose to guarantee any deferred increase or tax cut?

The real fuel issue is not one of petrol, however. It is the fact that 26,000 people a year are scared to put on their heating to the point of dying of cold-related illnesses while fuel companies have increased their prices by an average of nine per cent.

What will be an acceptable limit before this ignorant government grasps the nettle (to use a favourite Cameron cliché), admits the previous Tory government's privatisation of fuel companies was a disaster and takes direct control? Their feeble pressure to provide the lowest tariff scam will not yield results.

While the rednecks who surround Mr Halfon in the Commons fume and pontificate against Europe, their co-religionists in the 'private enterprise good, state control bad' lobby would not countenance these enormous cartels being returned to state regulation, even if their behaviour kills.

European energy companies must have a good laugh at their board meetings when they see Tories fulminating against corporate greed when their principles are the core and heart of such destructive market forces.

Historically, every market has been regulated, something the Tory hoodlums ignore. A free market would be ruled by people any civilised society would regard as gangsters.

It's time to use anti-trust laws and a new wave of competition laws to force these companies to reform or to sweep them away!

Police step up crackdown on drink-drivers

ESSEX Police are preparing to clamp down on drink-driving as the Christmas party season approaches.

Motorists planning to enjoy a festive tippie are being advised to arrange alternative modes of transport instead of driving home themselves.

Adam Pipe, casualty reduction manager for Essex Police, said: "Drink-driving is taking a risk, not only with your own life but those of your passengers and other innocent people on the road.

"It can result in a criminal record, the loss of your driving licence or a fine of up to £5,000. If you kill or injure someone you could face up to 14 years in prison."

Police will be stepping up normal patrols across the county between December and January – with Harlow one of the first towns set to be targeted in the crackdown.

There will be a large police presence in town on certain nights across the Christmas period, with officers using automatic number plate recognition equipment to catch drivers wanted for committing previous offences.

closely with the force to alert officers if people showing signs of being under the influence of alcohol are tracked leaving clubs and pubs before getting into the driver's seat of a car.

Mr Pipe said: "This year's message is to plan in advance how you are going to get home after a night out. Think about the consequences.

"Losing your licence means not only being unable to drive but could also mean losing your job and then being unable to pay your bills."

Last year 280 people were killed over the Christmas period in the UK in crashes where the driver was over the legal alcohol limit.

Police are also asking people to pass on information about people they know who have been drinking and then attempt to drive to call them on 101 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Marathon runners pledge support for hospice

FUNDRAISERS are on the lookout for marathon runners willing to go the extra mile for St Clare Hospice.

A team of 12 have already pledged to raise £20,000 for the hospice at Hastingwood by taking part in next year's London Marathon but more are needed to bump up the total.

The runners have already had their first information session where they were given advice on training by local Paralympian Noel Thatcher.

Grace Clutton, events fundraiser for St Clare, said: "It was a really great evening, with Noel giving our runners lots of really useful tips and suggestions.

"We also talked about ideas for fundraising to make sure the runners reach their target of £20,000. Everybody had a great evening and we are looking forward to the next gathering in January."

Anyone who has already received the offer of a place in the London Marathon and who would be prepared to run on behalf of the hospice should ring Grace on (01279) 773753.

Pizza helps spice up political debate

LABOUR'S chief secretary to the Treasury Rachel Reeves was guest speaker at a pizza and politics evening chaired by the party's Harlow parliamentary hopeful Suzy Stride.

The event was held at The Square with the aim of engaging the town's young voters to take part in an informal debate on issues that mattered to them.

"At a time when political and voter engagement is at an all-time low, events like this are vital in helping to engage people with politicians and politics," said Ms Stride.

"Young people have been badly affected by the Government with the withdrawal of educational maintenance allowance and increases in tuition fees.

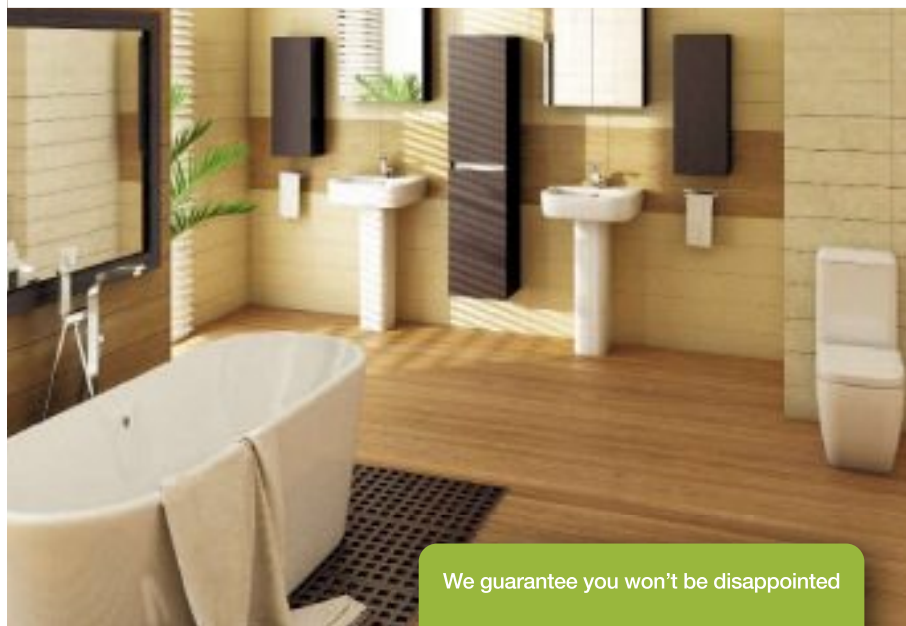

"It is standing by and doing nothing to tackle youth unemployment, giving the impression that young people are little more than a pawn in its unfair agenda of cuts."

Christmas in and around HARLOW

HARLOW has something for everyone when it comes to Christmas shopping.

Offering everything from designer brands to toys and fashion, this is truly a one-stop town for all your shopping requirements.

With almost one million square feet of 'shopping heaven', the Harvey Centre in the heart of Harlow is open seven days a week and attracts an average of 240,000 shoppers every week.

There is easy access by public transport and a convenient, undercover 726-space car park.

Well-known stores such as Marks and Spencer, Bhs, Primark, Tesco and Wilkinson stand alongside smaller independent shops such as Eversden Jewellers, Whitehouse, Minx and Juice, creating a unique retail experience.

A little further along from the Harvey Centre, and behind the library is The Water Gardens – another superb shopping area, hosting the very best in high street retail.

You'll find everything you need for you and your family within easy reach.

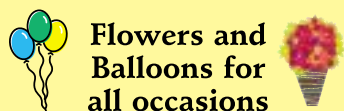

There's a large Asda supermarket, designer names at High Street prices from TK Maxx, great fashion stores and boutiques, homeware, sportswear, children's wear, music, films and home entertainment.

There are also some great places to stop and enjoy a coffee or lunch while you take a break from the retail therapy!

Outside Harlow's main town centre there are other shopping areas which boast numerous smaller specialist stores that offer some fabulous ideas when it comes to Christmas shopping.

I was worried shuttle might hit a chimney

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THERE has been something of a space invasion at Nostalgia mission control following last week's article on the NASA shuttle Enterprise.

We have been inundated with messages and photos from readers keen to share their memories of the day in June 1983 when 200,000 people flocked to Stansted Airport to see the shuttle.

Theresa Clark was in Harlow Town Park with her brother when she snapped a photo of the shuttle flying over Harlow on the back of a 747 jumbo jet.

"We always carried our cameras with us back then so I was able to take a photo as it flew over," she said.

"It flew very low. The photo is blurry because I was shaking at the time; it seemed to come so close. It was quite scary to be honest."

John Collins, of Herons Wood, went to see the shuttle with his daughter and son-in-law.

"The visit had generated a huge amount of excitement in Harlow and the surrounding area, and I can remember having to park the car a long way away from the airport itself because it was so busy," he said.

"It seemed like there were a million people there; it was quite a sight. We managed to get reasonably close and I took lots of photographs. After all, it's not every day you get to see a space shuttle!"

Sam Reed also remembers the day clearly, despite being five years old at the time!

"It was the most amazing sight," he said. "I remember the plane carrying the shuttle being so low I was worried that it would actually knock the chimneys off of the roof.

"The plane went right over my house. I was in the garden at the time and as it went over I ran through the house and out the front door with my mum and watched as the plane turned and flew off down the road with the shuttle on its back.

"Sometimes I thought that I had dreamt it even though my mum always backed up my story, so seeing the article in Nostalgia brought it all back."

Susan and Ron Turner wrote: "We tried to go up on the Sunday but the roads were just chaos because it was so busy, so we decided that, as we worked in London, we would go up before work to see it.

"It must have been about 5.30am morning and there were only a few people there – airport workers and a few fathers with their children before school. It was incredible; we could walk all the way around it."

Carol Reid was so enthralled by the spectacle she returned to the airport every day for the duration of its visit.

"I can remember going to visit in the early mornings when it was a bit less busy," she said. "A member of the crew handed me four leaflets about the shuttle which I still have today.

"I can also remember the police stewarding the event. They were fantastic and allowed me to get right up close to the shuttle itself to take pictures."

The shuttle remained at the airport until the afternoon of June 8 when it took off for its return to the USA.

A newcomer's guide to the delights of Harlow

AS readers following our recent series looking at the post-war history of Moot House will know, the town's first dedicated community centre played a vital role in the formative years of the New Town.

Not only was it a social hub for some of the town's earliest settlers, it also provided a base for newly-formed community and tenants groups to hold regular meetings and activities.

One of its most important functions was as an information centre for residents, as highlighted in this photo from the archives of the Mark Hall & Netteswell Community Association.

It shows Harlow Development Corporation general manager Eric Adams (standing) addressing a packed hall of new tenants, most likely giving them information about their new home town.

A map on the wall shows Harlow as it was in 1952. Mr Adams seems to be pointing out places of interest as residents listen intently while enjoying a cup of tea.

Don't become just another Christmas injury statistic

CHRISTMAS should be celebrated and enjoyed with the family. Nobody wants an unplanned trip to the nearest hospital emergency department because of an avoidable accident!

A staggering 80,000 people a year need hospital treatment for injuries such as falls, cuts and burns during the festive period. Typical Christmas Day injuries include parents accidentally stabbing themselves with scissors, which they've used to assemble toys instead of using a screwdriver.

Cuts from knives when opening presents too quickly and slips, trips and falls are also much more common nowadays with strewn toys and cables.

Make sure you are not one of the many injured this yuletide by following these simple tips to avoid accidents:

- Think carefully about where you place those festive candles and remember to blow them out before you go to bed.
- Check Christmas lights for frayed cords, loose connections and broken wires before using.
- Do not use staples, nails or tacks to hang electrical cords. These can pierce the protective insulation.
- Use wooden or fibreglass ladders when decorating outdoors. Metal ladders conduct electricity.

The top causes of Christmas injuries

Christmas decorations
5,000 injuries per year

Christmas trees
1,000 injuries per year

Fairy lights
350 injuries per year

Candles
50 per cent more likely to be in a fatal fire

Christmas cooking
Steep rise in burns, knife accidents, trips and falls

- Keep electrical cords away from moisture, particularly tree stands filled with water.
 - Keep children out of the kitchen to avoid any unnecessary burns and scalds from bubbling pots and pans.
- Follow these simple tips and you should have a safe and happy Christmas. For more information on how to stay safe this Christmas, log on to www.nhs.uk and type in Christmas.

Safety check list

Always switch off and unplug Christmas lights before you go to bed or go out.

Keep candles, lighters and matches out of the reach of children.

Decorations can burn easily - don't attach them to lights or heaters and don't hang them close to candles.

Make sure your family and any visitors staying for the festive period know how to escape in an emergency. Tell them where you keep door and window keys so they can escape if a fire starts.

Many fires start in the kitchen. Make sure you don't leave your Christmas dinner unattended in the kitchen and switch off the hob and oven if you leave the house.

The risk of accidents, especially in the kitchen, is greater after you've been drinking alcohol, so take care if you're having a few festive drinks.

Make sure cigarettes are completely extinguished and never smoke in bed. Many fires start when people fall asleep while smoking.

Check your smoke alarms. If they don't work, or you don't have one, treat yourself. It could be the best Christmas present you've ever bought as it could save your life in a fire.

NO doubt many of you like going to the seaside and enjoying a dip in the the water. But what if the sea turned the colour of tomato soup?

Well that's exactly what happened to sunbathers and surfers visiting the world-famous Bondi Beach in Australia.

Fortunately the alarming colour of the water was not the result of an accident. Instead it had been caused by a type of algae that lives in the sea.

According to the Sydney Morning Herald newspaper, a large quantity of the algae known as Noctiluca scintillans or 'sea sparkle' had been washed up close to the shoreline.

Although not poisonous, swimming in algae-filled water can cause skin and eye irritation which meant the beach had to be closed.

Local lifeguard Bruce Hopkins said: "It had quite a fishy smell to it. It made the water look like it had a coating of tomato-sauce coloured oil."

The New South Wales Office of Water carried out tests to discover what had caused it to happen. A spokesman said red tides are more common around spring and autumn when the water temperature is higher and there are greater movements in ocean currents.

Working together for Harlow

Your stars with Patrick Arundell
to guide you through the week ahead

Aries Mar 21-Apr 20

The Quarter Moon this week suggests if you try to do too much, you could end up with a king-size headache, and totally frustrated. The trick therefore is to pace yourself, be realistic in balancing the fun elements of this time of year, with juggling domestic chores, work, and preparing for Christmas. If you can, professional hopes look promising. Call for more advice...

Taurus Apr 21-May 21

The early part of this week sees the Sun go face to face with Jupiter, and this can tempt you into really splashing out when it comes to Christmas presents. Then again, you may decide that you are worthy of a treat personally, and decide to open the purse strings. This can be a very sultry time if you are lucky enough to have someone special in your life. Call for your financial scope...

Gemini May 22-Jun 21

If you've got it, you might find yourself flaunting it this week, whether it is your raw talents, good looks or devastating personality. But equally, with Venus and Mars co-operating so well, you can also achieve some seriously make a commitment, your practical progress on financial or business matters. If you really try too hard to make a apply yourself, what you put in place can prove to be long lasting. Call for more advice...

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23

The fall out around one association caused by last week's Mars and Pluto dust up may still be reverberating as this week begins. Yet with Venus and Mars on such good terms, a lot of good can yet come from this. At the least you can be clearer about where you stand with one another. However, the Quarter Moon suggests a few early nights may help. Call me for your love scope...

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23

There is unlikely to be a lack of possibilities as the Sun and Jupiter are in opposition. This can also see you brimming with positivity. However, the downside is that you might get swept along with something or someone that distracts you from other more serious matters. A friend can however, prove to be a great help in assisting with a home upgrade. Call for more advice...

Virgo Aug 24-Sept 23

If you are hosting people at any time over the winter holidays, you won't want to stint on your preparations and the comfort and welcome that you can provide. So, this is a month when getting the decorative side of your home sorted, or working on family relationships, is going to be much to the fore. Yet spending some of the winter someone in your clan, may not be terribly co-operative. Call for more advice...

Libra Sept 24-Oct 23

A mixture of irregularities and incoherencies and more home ones, may see you enjoy a night or two out. But equally, you may be happy to get back to your own environs afterwards. In love, however glamorous someone is, you will need to feel you have similar values and relate closely to them for Christmas. If you can, this to really prosper. Think of beauty as being skin deep. Libra. Call now for more...

Scorpio Oct 24-Nov 22

Your powers of persuasion will have rarely been higher, and if you have a love of food and drink, this can be the perfect way to socialize or to build business links. Yet there may be a tendency to go overboard and have really rich and calorific packed goodies, which could then lead to you packing in a diet. If you do slip, back this up with some super foods. Call for more advice...

Sagittarius Nov 23-Dec 21

Your natural default is one of enthusiasm, and this can be a fantastic asset this week, as the Sun and your ruler Jupiter combine. However, there is a potential downside, and if you well, you can also promise something or achieve some seriously make a commitment, your practical progress on financial or business matters. If you really try too hard to make a apply yourself, what you put in place can prove to be long lasting. Call for more advice...

Capricorn Dec 22-Jan 20

You might find yourself thinking about what you can do for those less fortunate than you. This could be for a good cause locally or helping those overseas. There is also the potential for bubbly encounters and exchanges through your network, which can expand in surprising ways. The people that really matter can take on even greater importance. Call for more news and advice...

Aquarius Jan 21-Feb 19

Your popularity remains high, but you probably won't want to attend every function or party that an invite arrives for, so tact and diplomacy will be important. Away from the social scene, links you have been quietly building can start to pay off handsomely. In love, someone may ask a friend to let you know that they are interested in meeting you or going on a date. Call for more...

Pisces Feb 20-Mar 20

There could be a potential for you to overreach on part of your life just now. Maintaining realistic expectations will be important. However, the thought of a group trip, holiday or adventure can really spur you on. You and a group of friends may even be excitedly discussing to be much to the fore. Yet spending some of the winter holiday overseas, on the not be terribly co-operative. Call now for more advice...

Playhouse panto is a Christmas cracker

By CHRIS MOSS

CHRISTMAS officially begins at The Playhouse tomorrow (Friday) as the theatre prepares for the start of what promises to be a magical month of panto mirth and mayhem.

Jack & The Beanstalk will be taking audiences on a colossal adventure above the clouds. And with tickets selling fast, theatre bosses are hoping to smash box office records for the third year running with its biggest panto to date.

Topping the bill as Jack is children's TV favourite Pui Fan Lee from CBBC's Show Me Show Me. She will be joined on stage by some of the UK's top panto talent.

Also in the cast are Tom Beard (Monsieur Loyal), Kevin James (Fleshcreep), Jez O (Billy) and Natalie Douglas (Fairy Eco-Friendly), while Danielle Black – last seen playing Cinderella at the Playhouse three years ago – returns to the theatre as Jack's love interest, Jill.

Director Nicholas Collett, who will also take the role of Dame Trott, said production company The Jack Consortium were determined to make the panto a show to remember.

"After planning the show with the team over the past six months it's great to finally have the cast and crew together in rehearsals to pull all the exciting elements together," he said.

"This is a wonderful version of the story with surprises and thrills along the way, with some really moving sections, too.

"The show has come together brilliantly with the entire cast and crew working tirelessly and we can't wait to open tomorrow (Friday) and treat the audiences to something truly spectacular."

Playhouse manager Scott Ramsay said audience members should expect the unexpected with the promise of some jaw-dropping special effects.

"The show's coming together beautifully and we're looking forward to entertaining the crowds with music, dance, jokes and magic," he said. "The scale of some of the effects is amazing.

£Tickets have been flying out the door but there are still some excellent seats available at the beginning and towards the end of the run. We really don't want people to miss out on this wonderful version of a classic story."

● Jack & The Beanstalk opens tomorrow (Friday) and runs until Sunday, January 7. Ticket prices range between £9 and £21 with group discounts available.

For more information, call the box office on (01279) 431945 or log on to the website at www.playhouseharlow.com.

Traditional entertainment will raise the spirits

IT'S time to turn back the clock as Victoria Hall Theatre spirits audiences away to Christmas past with a magical new adaptation of Dickens' A Christmas Carol.

Staged to mark the bicentenary of the author's birth, the theatre's thoroughly traditional take on the tale promises to thaw even the frostiest of hearts – and spread some much-needed seasonal cheer to boot.

"It's been another difficult year for most of us so hopefully we can cheer people up a bit and help them get into the Christmas spirit," said director Simon Mawdsley.

"I want this to be a real experience for members of the audience, so there'll be carol singers, mince pies and mulled wine from the moment people walk in to the foyer. It'll be more than just a play."

Simon said he wanted to keep the production as traditional as possible, sticking closely to the original novella and dressing his cast in full Victorian costume.

"Victoria Hall is such a wonderful old building I thought it could only add to the magic if I kept things traditional," he explained.

"The play and costumes will complement the venue perfectly and if we succeed in sending audience members home with a bit of old-fashioned Christmas cheer then I'll be very pleased."

● A Christmas Carol opens at Victoria Hall Theatre on Wednesday and runs until December 22.

Performances start at 7.30pm, with matinee shows on selected dates beginning at 2.30pm.

For more details and to buy tickets, log on to www.victoriahalltheatre.co.uk or call (01279) 420062.

Black comedy set in a world of crazy killers

DOGS OF GORE: Colin Farrell, Christopher Walken and Sam Rockwell star in SEVEN PSYCHOPATHS

SEVEN PSYCHOPATHS certificate 15, running time 1h50m

A HOLLYWOOD screenwriter with crippling creative block finds inspiration in the most unlikely places in Martin McDonagh's twisted black comedy.

Booze-swilling Irish scribe Marty (Colin Farrell) has reached an impasse with a script called Seven Psychopaths, much to the chagrin of his long-suffering girlfriend Kaya (Abbie Cornish).

When Marty mentions this to best friend Billy (Sam Rockwell), a jobbing actor who is involved in a dog-napping scam with elderly associate Hans (Christopher Walken), Billy places a newspaper advert asking bona fide psychopaths to share their life stories.

Step forward madman Zachariah (Tom Waits) who, in return for sharing his grisly past, asks Marty to include a message to his accomplice during the film's credits, jesting that he will kill the screenwriter if the declaration is cut.

Meanwhile, Billy and Hans kidnap a pedigree pooch called Bonny, unaware the dog is the pride and joy of sadistic gangster Charlie Costello (Woody Harrelson).

When Charlie discovers the four-legged object of his affections has been abducted from dog walker Sharice (Gabourey Sidibe), retribution is swift and brutal.

Seven Psychopaths balances giggles, gore and giddiness, spattering the screen with lashings of blood. Farrell is somewhat bland but Walken, Rockwell and Harrelson savour their colourful supporting characters, whose fates become inextricably entwined in the desert.

While it falls agonisingly short of McDonagh's 2008 debut In Bruges, it is nevertheless an entertaining ensemble piece which aims a shotgun squarely between the eyes of political correctness.

>>still on screen

GREAT EXPECTATIONS Orphan Pip (Jeremy Irvine) has a disturbing encounter with escaped convict Magwitch (Ralph Fiennes) in the marshes close to the home he shares with his haughty sister (Sally Hawkins) and her husband (Jason Flemyng). The boy agrees to steal food for Magwitch but police eventually apprehend the suspect. Soon after, he is dispatched to visit the reclusive Miss Havisham (Helena Bonham Carter), who requires a playmate for her ward, Estella (Holliday Grainger). At first, Pip is scared of Miss Havisham but once he meets Estella, fear is replaced by infatuation and he falls under the spell of the girl. Some years later, lawyer Mr Jaggers (Robbie Coltrane) informs Pip that a mysterious benefactor has paid for him to become a gentleman. Pip excitedly takes up lodgings with Herbert Pocket (Ollie Alexander) and slowly gains a foothold in London society, where once again he crosses paths with Estella.

RISE OF THE GUARDIANS Santa Claus (voiced by Alec Baldwin) and his elves are hard at work at the North Pole when darkness flashes across his map of the Earth. Santa tells his fellow guardians Easter Bunny (Hugh Jackman), Tooth Fairy (Isa Fisher) and Sandman that the bogeyman - Pitch Black (Jude Law) - has risen to challenge their supremacy but they refuse to believe him. However, once the threat posed by Pitch Black becomes terrifyingly real, the guardians prepare to welcome a new recruit to their fold - Jack Frost (Chris Pine). As Pitch Black gains in strength and the children of the world turn their backs on Santa, Easter Bunny, Tooth Fairy and Sandman, everything rests on Jack to save the day.

SILVER LININGS PLAYBOOK School teacher Pat Solitano (Bradley Cooper) returns home to discover his wife Nikki (Brea Bee) in the shower with another member of the faculty. He batters his wife's lover to a bloody pulp and is banished to a psychiatric facility for eight months as part of his plea bargain. Returning home to Philadelphia to live with his father Pat Sr (Robert De Niro) and mother Dolores (Jacki Weaver), Pat is determined to overcome his wife's restraining order and win her back. Then best friend Ronnie (John Ortiz) introduces Pat to his sister-in-law, Tiffany (Jennifer Lawrence), a young widow who reacted to her husband's death by sleeping with all of her co-workers.

NATIVITY 2: DANGER IN THE MANGER St Bernadette's primary school is in dire straits and headmistress Mrs Bevans (Pam Ferris) is at the end of her tether. She can barely contain her relief when supply teacher Donald Peterson (David Tennant) arrives to take charge of the excitable pupils, but one disastrous lesson with hyperactive classroom assistant Mr Poppy (Marc Wootton) is enough to convince Mr Peterson he has made a terrible mistake. But he changes his mind when Mrs Bevans promises to make him headmaster if he stays and so help Mr Poppy audition the children for a national choir competition called A Song For Christmas.

TWILIGHT: BREAKING DAWN PART 2 After the birth of Renesmee, the Cullens gather other vampire clans in order to protect the child from a false allegation that puts the family in front of the Volturi.

SKYFALL James Bond's loyalty to M is tested as her past comes back to haunt her. As M16 comes under attack, 007 must track down and destroy the threat, no matter how personal the cost.

THE HOBBIT: AN UNEXPECTED JOURNEY certificate 12A, 2h49m

DIRECTOR Peter Jackson returns with a three-part adaptation of J.R.R. Tolkien's classic tale set 60 years before The Lord of the Rings.

The adventure follows the journey of Bilbo Baggins, who is swept into an epic quest to reclaim the lost Dwarf Kingdom of Erebor from the fearsome dragon Smaug.

Approached out of the blue by the wizard Gandalf the Grey, Bilbo finds himself joining a company of 13 dwarves led by the legendary warrior Thorin Oakenshield on a journey which will take them through treacherous lands swarming with Goblins and Orcs, deadly Wargs and Sorcerers.

Although their goal lies to the East and the wastelands of the Lonely Mountain, they must first escape the goblin tunnels where Bilbo meets the creature that will change his life forever - Gollum.

Here, on the shores of an underground lake, Bilbo not only discovers depths of ingenuity and courage that surprise even him, he also gains possession of Gollum's 'precious' - the golden ring that holds unexpected and useful qualities and which is tied to the fate of all Middle-earth in ways he cannot begin to imagine.

What About The Children?

Showing your home to prospective purchasers can be stressful enough, but children add an extra dimension and their needs should also be considered.

Moving house might be logical and exciting for an adult, but the fear of the unknown can be upsetting for children. The room or corner of the garden that has been their special place for most of the child's life is about to be taken away from them, as they are rocketed out of their comfort zone into unknown territory.

After you have made the decision to move, child psychologists usually advise telling the children as soon as you can. They are certain to find out one way or another and being up front with them will enable you to manage the process better and stay in control.

Parents nevertheless need to be sensitive when discussing the move, and make a point of highlighting the exciting aspects of a new home. Ask your child what they would like to find in their ideal home. They don't have to have a major influence on your decision, but their apparent involvement in the process will pay dividends.

Likewise, if your children regard the move as a positive thing they are more likely to be co-operative when buyers come to view your property. A stress-related tantrum as the buyer walks through your door is to be avoided at all costs! Indeed, no matter how sweet your children may be, they are more likely to be a distraction to a prospective buyer than an advantage. This is one of the many reasons why we give you a choice for us to accompany purchasers around our clients' property. So our respectful advice is this: ideally, leave the viewing to the trained agent and take the children (and the dog) for a walk! Happy Selling!

For more advice on any aspect of your move, please feel free to call us on 01279 444988.

BARRATT RESPONDS TO RECORD BUY-TO-LET MARKET WITH INVESTOR EVENT IN HARLOW

With interest rates at a record low and the demand for rental property on the increase, more and more seasoned and new property investors are turning to buy-to-let property investments to generate income and make their cash work harder. This emerging trend is backed-up by new figures released from the Council of Mortgage Lenders (CML) that show buy-to-let mortgages now account for one in eight mortgages in the UK.

In response to this continued demand from property investors in Essex, the UK's leading housebuilder Barratt Homes is organising a special Investor Event on Saturday 8th & Sunday 9th December at its award winning development Fifth Avenue located in central Harlow. Prospective investors are invited to take a tour around the range of ready-to-let properties to find out why they are proving so popular with the investor market. Furthermore, investors who attend the event will be able to utilise Barratt Homes' unique investor package.

"With good property prices and extremely high rental demand for all types of accommodation, there has never been a better time to invest in Harlow so I expect this Investor Event to attract a lot of interest," said Stuart Clark at Essex Lettings. "Clients using our services that have purchased buy-to-let in the last 12 months similar to that at Fifth Avenue have seen typical rental yields of between 5 and 12% per annum on their investment. Harlow is 30 minutes via train from London Liverpool Street and close to the M11 and M25 so it is a very popular town with commuters and therefore investors."

Located off Allende Avenue, Fifth Avenue is a brand new collection of homes priced from £269,950. The properties enjoy a fantastic position directly opposite Town Park, central Harlow's largest public green space which offers everything from open air concerts and adventure playground facilities, to river walks and even a petting zoo. In addition, Harlow's main Sainsbury's superstore is just a few hundred metres away from Fifth Avenue and the Harlow town train station is less than 15 minutes by foot.

"For investors location and quality are usually the most important factors for an investment property as these directly affect the potential rental yields and capital growth," commented, Steve Garton, Sales Director for Barratt North London. "Fifth Avenue has a great location for those who commute by rail and road, but also for those who work in Harlow and the wider area. We hope our Investors Event at Fifth Avenue will give experienced and budding property investors an insight into why now is a good time to take on a buy-to-let property."

The Fifth Avenue Investors Event will provide visitors with the opportunity to take a look around the range of high quality ready-to-let properties on offer and find out more about the investor package. Specifically designed to make investing in buy-to-let property even easier, the package includes three years paid tenancy letting fees, development management fees, ground rent and landlord protection insurance. Of course, all the properties at Fifth Avenue also come with Barratt Homes' special five year warranty on fixtures and fittings and the standard 10 year NHBC construction guarantee.

By Iain Dooley

I WOULDN'T go as far as to say I'm a religious person but I am a born-again motorist. In a good way, I might add.

The combination of wanting to better previous fuel consumption figures and the need to be extremely well behaved after the intervention of Her Majesty's Constabulary meant that rather than dashing across the country as quickly as legally possible, I've been cruising, pootling and maintaining a general mood of steadiness over the past 1,000 miles or so.

That might sound like a recipe for middle-lane snoozing, but in actual fact I've been arriving at my destinations far more unstressed than before and often only a few minutes later than if I'd been trying a lot harder.

And although this A1 wears the Sport tag that delivers stiffer suspension as well as bigger wheels, it's been more than happy to play along.

The 'S tronic' gearbox gives a lovely tall seventh gear and although a motorway incline tackled with just a sniff of throttle usually means a single downshift, for the most part it will hum along with around 2,000rpm on the rev counter at the legal limit.

Fact File

Audi A1 Sportback
1.4 TFSI Sport

£20,085 as tested

ENGINE: 1.4-litre petrol producing 120bhp
TRANSMISSION: Seven-speed dual clutch driving front wheels
PERFORMANCE: Top speed 126mph, 0-62mph in 9.0 secs
ECONOMY: 53.3mpg (combined)
CO₂ RATING: 119g/km

If there's one further wish to be granted it would be for cruise control, but frankly that was an omission from the options list on my part rather than the fault of the car. Silly me.

I've also been trying hard to keep the A1's cabin de-cluttered, the only problem being is that it is rather good at swallowing it in the first place. The front cupholders are almost always occupied, swiftly followed by the one in the driver's door.

Even with a cup in there you can still stuff plenty of crisp packets and parking tickets in the space behind it, and the packet of biscuits that are kept on standby as emergency snacks for the kids has stayed untouched in the armrest cubby for several months on the trot.

Anything A4-shaped (paper, not the car) is an arm's length away in the pocket on the back of the passenger seat, and the space underneath the boot floor has housed emergency wellies and an umbrella without a problem.

Small it may be but the A1 has swallowed everything I have reasonably asked of it... and sometimes a bit more.

I'm also more in love with its looks than ever. Lots of armchair experts are keen to predict the end of white as a fashionable colour for cars, but this A1 is still turning heads as well as making me turn and look wistfully at it as I lock and walk away.

I've been extra good and treated it to a personal wash and a proper spruce-up at the hands of someone who really knows what they're doing, and although it's fun to give the local kids the opportunity to write rude messages in the dirt it positively zings when it is immaculately clean. And behaving myself on the road means it stays clean for longer, too.

Next to a three-door A1 with a bodykit installed it looks a little plainer, but it sits nicely in the space between discreet and posh. A sporty coupe version would look the absolute business.

Another hard month has also proved that even this smallest Audi doesn't just look nice inside; it's tough, too. The parcel shelf attachments, so often the first thing to fall off with heavy use, remain stubbornly in place and doing their job. All the buttons and switches still operate with the same slickness and robust feeling as they did on day one and, despite having almost everything thrown at them, the seats and their fabric trim have shrugged off numerous stains.

It might not look like a family car at first but it's fit and ready for the job.

And when I very occasionally allow myself a bit of fun on a deserted back road it still dives into bends with aplomb.

The 1.4-litre TFSI petrol unit has a useful wedge of torque low down but happily revs high up, feeling much like a larger-capacity naturally aspirated engine.

It's also a pleasure to give the gearshift paddles a workout, and the sports suspension comes into its own.

Time is almost up for the A1 and although it's a month away from heading off into the sunset, I'm already starting to miss it. There'll be some kind of replacement to follow it but unless it's the Batmobile or Schumacher's championship-winning Ferrari I can't help thinking I'll be wishing the A1 was still here.

The 100% electric Nissan LEAF represents a huge leap forward in technology, not to mention a huge saving in running costs. By swapping your conventional car for the LEAF, you can drive 10,000 miles a year for as little as £188, whilst an equivalent petrol car would cost £1,262! Better still, the LEAF comes with a £1,800 advanced rental contribution, 3 years' low cost servicing at £349 and 3 years' roadside assistance. Remarkable. To find out more contact us today.

Actual consumption may vary due to driving style, road conditions, air conditioning and other factors outside our control. *The 'representative' figure is based on a price comparison. The average price of a gallon of petrol is £63.2 (as quoted in the AA fuel price report, October 2012). The cost of powering the LEAF for one mile is £188, based on British Gas Car & Simple Economy 1 direct debit unit rates as of 16 November 2012 assuming LEAF is charged for 7 hours overnight (night rate) and 1 hour in the daytime (for two day rates). A daily standing charge of £379 also applies. As for the average price as a gallon of petrol the LEAF can be charged enough times to drive 105 miles. Based on a Strong petrol-powered car driving 10,000 miles per annum. Finance is available subject to status on eligible new vehicles in the UK. Guarantees and indemnities may be required. Rental stated is for Nissan Finance Lease. Comparable payments are available on Nissan Finance Personal Finance product - ask your dealer for details. Advance customer rental £6,599 followed by 35 monthly rentals of £299. Total rental £11,801. All figures inclusive of VAT and based on annual mileage of 10,000. If you choose Nissan Lease then you will not own the car. When you have paid the final rental at the end of the contract, you can keep the car and pay an annual rental amount of £504+VAT. Finance provided by RCI Financial Services Limited, PO Box 146, Watford WD17 1ES. You must be at least 18 and a UK resident (excluding Isle of Man and Channel Islands) to apply. Scrap

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

End of the road? Get over it and move on with your local ATF:

B & T Motor Salvage

We offer free collection, on the same day if necessary, using our own recovery vehicles and issue a Certificate of Destruction from the Department of Vehicle Licensing Authority via our direct link to their website. Payment per vehicle negotiable.

Rams in must-win match

RUGBY

THE Rams will aim to record a third consecutive win when they visit Canvey Island in a crucial RFU London & South East division three north east match this Saturday.

Harlow started the season slowly, but two victories in their last two matches over East London and Old Brentwoods have seen them rise to 10th with 17 points in the 12-team table.

Canvey are 8th with 20 points.

Captain Shaun Roberts said: "It's an eight pointer. We are just three points behind them and we can overtake them."

"It can be quite intimidating [at Canvey]. Rhys [Powell] and I played at Southend and I expect we will get some stick. They are quite vocal in their support."

Harlow will be without flanker Ollie Jones due to work commitments, while tight head prop Martin Cunningham is ruled out with a fractured jaw.

"It's a pity about Jones because he's not available and he's been playing really well for us," Roberts added.

Pumas snarl at Ridsen

FRONTIERS Youth Pumas U-11 won 4-1 at Ridsen Wood in the West Essex & East Herts Youth Football League.

L. Read bagged a brace for the visitors. A. Dingle and L. Jennings also netted.

C. Campbell replied for the hosts.

In the U-10 gold division, goals from A. Knight and M. Nicolau guided Langley Colts Trojans to a 2-0 home win against Frontiers Youth Pumas.

Other results: U-9 division: Parsloe Youth 3 (J. Hillard, H. Quill, S. Smith, Ridsen Wood 5 (R. Heath 2, K. Jordan 2, K. O'Mahony); Summers Yth Pythons 2, Frontiers Youth Panthers 0.

Raiders on high to hurt Hawks

TWO OF A KIND: Robyn Power, left, and Naomi Harryman

Duo shine in East contest

TWO girls from Harlow Gymnastics Club represented Essex and came fourth from six teams in an Eastern Region Elite Team competition in Ipswich.

Naomi Harriman (14) and Robyn Power (13) competed for Essex for the level 3 team event. They were up against teams from Cambridgeshire, Norfolk, Suffolk, Bedfordshire and Hertfordshire.

Harriman competed in floor, beam and vault events, while Power competed in floor, beam, vault and bars.

They both performed well, helping the team from Essex to gain an overall fourth place.

HARLOW HAWKS 73, GENTING RAIDERS 89
HERTS BASKETBALL LEAGUE, DIVISION ONE

THE talented and extremely tall Genting Raiders were just too strong for a fighting Harlow Hawks outfit at the Leisureszone.

Division one leaders Raiders, based in Dunstable in Bedfordshire, had a big height advantage for Friday's clash. The hosts' tactics were to restrict the Raiders' space when they attacked and force them to shoot from distance.

Harlow got to the basket a few times, but just could not finish the plays and the Raiders went into the second quarter 16-10 ahead.

Genting started this period well, scoring seven unanswered points.

Their big men got into good positions for easy scores against the smaller Hawks.

However, Hawks' Roan Lenihan strung a couple of baskets together and Nick Moss added six points by sinking a couple of jump shots.

The dogged home defence, led by Lee Jones and Stuart Burgess frustrated the Raiders for a while, but the visitors finished the quarter strongly and led 43-25 at the halfway stage.

Hawks struggled to get points on the board with free throws not being converted during this period.

The Raiders continued their onslaught inside for easy scores in the third quarter.

It was the good play of the Genting point guard that really caught the eye as his outside shooting and speed was deadly.

Raiders went into the final quarter with a 61-39 lead.

The hosts then fell further behind and at one stage trailed by 32 points.

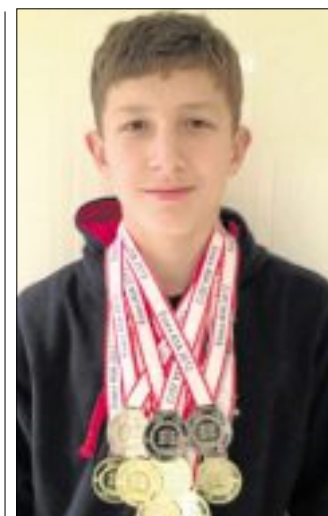

But the Hawks stuck together and scored 18 unanswered points in two minutes of action to cut the gap.

This period saw the home side nail five three-pointers, with three coming from player-coach Shab Niaz and one each from Moss and Zaf Niaz, who had a strong quarter.

The Raiders' lead was reduced to 13 at one stage, but they held the ball well and ran the clock down to inflict another defeat on the Hawks with some late scores.

Hawks lost by 16 points and remain near the foot of the table.

HARLOW HAWKS: Moss (23pts), S Niaz (17), Z Niaz (11), Stonehouse (7), Norkellunas (7), Lenihan (4), Burgess (3), Svedas (1), Jones.

Club pays tribute to star Osagie

OLYMPIC 800metre finalist Andrew Osagie was rewarded when Harlow Athletic Club held their presentation evening at Paringdon Sports Club. Great Britain runner Osagie (24), brought much honour to the town and his club when he got through the final of his event at the London 2012 Olympics.

Hailed the greatest Olympic 800m final of all time, Osagie's time of 1:43.77 would have been fast enough to have won the previous 800m Olympic final in Beijing.

Osagie, who has been high-altitude training in Kenya with GB team-mates, jointly won the Harlow AC Chairman's Award with club-mate Steve Lott (head junior coach), highly-rated wheelchair

The men's team were unbeaten and clinched promotion to division one of the Southern Men's League.

Members of the team were recognised in the male category.

Yule have to get striker for Xmas

HARLOW TOWN O, WALTHAM ABBEY O RYMAN LEAGUE, DIVISION ONE NORTH

By ALAN SCOTT
Sports Editor
alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.uk

DEFENSIVELY the Hawks might be sound as a pound now, but all manager Danny Chapman wants for Christmas is some new strikers.

The Harlow chief has made bids for FIVE front-men in the last week.

Sam Deane returned up front against neighbours Waltham Abbey after a long spell out injured, but he missed a string of chances as the hosts failed to get the three points they deserved on Saturday.

In fact, Abbey would have ended up snatching an undeserved win but for returning Hawks custodian Bert Bossu, who made an outstanding save with his feet to deny sub Billy Jones on 89 minutes.

It was a third successive clean sheet for Harlow and shows the benefit of having a fit Danny Brown and Donny Barnard at the back after long spells out injured.

The Abbey line-up contained five ex-Harlow players including former assistant boss Christian Wheeler and their captain Tom Bruno.

In a lacklustre derby of few chances Harlow went close to scoring near half-time. A corner from Piers Wixon on the right was met by a powerful header from Brown but the Abbey keeper Jake Whincup did well to block at the foot of a post with Hawks players lurking.

Moments later, Hector Mackie's fizzing ball into the box was met by Deane, but he headed wide when clean through.

The second half was even worse as the biting cold weather took a grip.

On 73 minutes, an awful back pass from Matt Attard was seized on by Deane from 30 yards out. He needed composure with only the keeper to beat but hit it first time and blazed it horribly wide for a throw-on! Harlow were then denied a penalty when Attard brought down Wixon on 84 minutes.

Abbey could have snatched it through Jones late on, but Bossu showed all his experience to make an important save.

The hosts had goals ruled out for offside in either half. Chapman said: "I did not think we played particularly well in the first half."

"We were flat. Certain individuals took too long to get into the game. But in the second half we dominated without really testing their goalkeeper.

"There was always something missing. But overall we have to be pleased. That's three clean sheets. If you look at our back four, most of the season it has been inexperienced. But now we have a solid back four."

"We have now lost one in five. I am happy with that, considering where we were a couple of months back. If anyone was going to win, it was us."

HARLOW TN: Bossu 7, Young 8, O'Donoghue 6, Barnard 6, Brown 7, Burns 7, Cass 6, Mackie 6, Deane 7 (Gill 85), Wixon 7, Das 6. Subs: Taylor, Gill, Akande, Tamai. Att: 178.

Boss impressed with debutant Young

HARLOW Town boss Danny Chapman was delighted with the debut of right-back Jake Young, the brother of QPR and former England ace Luke Young. Jake, pictured right, has returned to Harlow after a spell in Australia and signed for the club after Hawks boss Danny Chapman was tipped off by chief steward Steve Clarke.

"Jake [Young] did really well on his debut. He was solid defensively," beamed Chapman.

The Harlow boss was also impressed with on-loan Dagenham player Andrew Burns, who was switched from right-back to midfield in the absence of the banned Stanley Muguo. "He does the things that people don't see. He does the horrible bits. He has discipline."

"You always need a central midfielder to stay there. He is a 100 per cent player. I think he will go on and play in the Football League," said Chapman.

The Harlow boss also gave a game to striker Sam Deane, who was signed in the summer but has not played due to the combination of a knee injury and problems with work over the last few months.

"He lost his job. He had mental issues he needed to sort out in his life. He also had a knee injury. He's a lot stronger now and he has found himself a job. "He came back in there and I think he worked as hard as he could. It was his first game in a couple of months. A couple of times he could have taken a touch, but it was his first game back, said Chapman."

Paris sinks World Champs medal

European Championships runner-up in her second-round match.

This was Sydes' first ever World Championships.

She was representing England and fought in front of her biggest crowd ever, but managed to keep a lid on her nerves.

She crushed the Euro silver medallist 5-1 after using a tactic of facial punches which left her opponent reeling. "We had been working on that," said Sydes, of Moorlands Reach, revealing the tactics she had worked on with her coach Daniel Hollister. "We were training quite a lot before we went away [to Paris]."

In the next match against the Chinese, the match was 0-0 after a tight first two rounds.

Then disaster struck in the third with the tie in the balance.

Having had a taste for the World Championships, she hopes to return when the competition moves to Germany in 2014.

With this experience she should be a favourite for a medal.

But for now she is focused on getting back to full fitness for the Euros when she could face the fancied French girl Alexandra Recchia, who went on to win the gold medal in Paris, or some of the tough Italian girls.

"The Italians are really good as well. Everyone is good. There is no one that's not good. But I've got a chance," she said.

Sydes has already started training despite having her arm in plaster as she wants to maintain her fitness. "I have already started running. I can't drive so my mum's taking me to the [karate] classes. I'm keen to get back," she added.

Sting in the Tayl for neighbours

"I have yet to make my mind up on him, but he could come in on loan. He needs some games and has not featured for Welling much recently."

On Taylor, the Hawks boss added: We have had a response from Takeley. I will be speaking to him."

Harlow have two difficult league away games in four days, starting with Saturday's tough trip to Needham market before an equally tough encounter in the rearranged match with Tilbury on Tuesday.

Striker Sam Deane could play again if a new striker is not signed. He played in the goalless draw with Waltham Abbey last Saturday but clearly lacked match fitness after a long spell out.

Central midfielder Stanley Muguo will be back this weekend after serving a one-match ban against Abbey.

in good condition after training in Canada and the US in the summer, but had a setback when he broke a bone in a hand after falling awkwardly in August.

The five week lay-off threatened to derail his plans for this season.

He was then signed as temporary cover for injured Chelmsford goalie Ryan Bainborough, which allowed Brummitt to get back into on-ice training ahead of the GB trials.

His father Russell Brummitt added: "He has kept goal since he was seven and this is his biggest achievement so far. He has played for England at age group levels, but this is a big step-up."

(MATCH ABANDONED)

Match called off due to injured star

HARLOW Ladies are set to play Redbridge & Ilford again before Christmas after Saturday's clash was abandoned.

The game was stopped after 20 minutes when a Redbridge player injured her neck.

Earlier, Redbridge went ahead in the first two minutes with a well-worked goal.

Harlow fought back and equalised on 12 minutes when Sandra Turner scored from a rebound after the keeper saved her initial shot.

The match was then abandoned following the injury.

Harlow are sixth in the 12-team table.

HARLOW: Ferdinando, Rowley, Tweddle, Chambers, Trimble, Welsford, Spencer, Thomas, Turner, Stanesby, Smith.

● HARLOW'S scheduled match at Saffron Walden III in division four south east of the East Men's Hockey League on Saturday was postponed because of a frozen pitch.

Parsloe progress in Bill Bruty Cup

GOALS by Graham Learner, Sam Truckle and Isaac Addo could not prevent Lower Street losing 4-3 at Parsloe Athletic in the second round of the Bill Bruty Cup.

Chris Webb (2), Anthony Webb and Gary Johnson netted for the hosts.

Sheering also progressed with a 3-0 win over Fairway Corinthians. Scorers were Steve Ashman, Carl Owen and Kwasi Bay.

In division one of the Footprint Bishop's Stortford, Stansted & District Football League, braces from Chris Bishop and Ben Simpson plus a Valentine Tyrell goal guided Hatfield Heath to a 5-1 home triumph over Albury.

Other results: div one: EF Lakers 8, Sheering res 1.
 ● Other games called off due to frozen pitches.

Pope's Dutch of class for GB gold

A STRONG boost was given to Harlow Judo Club when Adam Pope won a gold medal in the Alcides G SN (Special Needs) Championships.

Pope, who was representing Great Britain, came first in the event at Baarlo in Holland.

The 16-year-old Harlow player, who is autistic and attends Harlow College, won all of his five fights in the under-60kgs weight category.

Harlow Judo Club committee member and membership secretary Sally Hemming said: "It is the first time he has fought at senior level internationally. The club are very pleased with his achievement."

At a more local level, Rebecca Howlett (11) and Rhys Vale (11) excelled by winning golds in the Harlow Age & Grade

JUDO

Banded Championships at the Leisurezone complex in Second Avenue.

Silvers were gained by Emma Nunn (8), George Sullivan (10), Harry Saint (11), Jack George (15) and Alex Hemming (16).

This competition included players from France, as well as UK clubs including Tonbridge in Kent, Ipswich in Suffolk and Southend.

Success has also been tasted by Harlow players in regional competitions.

Nunn also gained a silver in the NHC Red Belt Rumble at Passmores Academy.

Howlett won a gold in the Southend International, while Hemming gained a bronze.

A fantastic inter school Olympic judo event in the summer coupled with the interest from the Games has sparked a revival in the sport.

Black belt reward for four years' work

FOUR years' hard work paid off for Harlow Tae Kwon Do student Jason Lockwood when he achieved black belt 1st dan status.

It was also a milestone for the club's instructor, Mick Sullivan, as Lockwood was the first player to become a black belt holder since he took over the club almost two years ago.

Lockwood, a third dan black belt, said: "Jason has worked really hard and has every intention of continuing to obtain his 2nd dan and his referee and umpires certification."

"He has been a credit to the club with his hard work and dedication."

The club trains at the Passmores Academy.

Plaster of Paris sinks World Championships medal quest

A PAINFUL dislocated elbow injury left Chelsea Sydes in plaster and killed off her chance of success at the World Karate Championships in Paris – just one match after she beat the reigning European silver medallist.

Sydes (23), a karate instructor who runs classes in Harlow, took on reigning world champion Hong Li in the third round of the -50kg kumite class in front of a massive 15,000 crowd in the French capital.

But her bid for success turned to disaster when the Chinese fell and landed on Sydes' elbow, immediately dislocating it.

Sydes, from Sawbridgeworth, is an instructor and runs her own karate classes for the Lea Valley Karate School at Mulberry Green in Old Harlow and at High Wych. She was rushed to hospital in Paris where her arm was put into plaster.

She is expected to remain in plaster for another week, but will be unable to compete for a further eight weeks.

"The Chinese girl fell on my arm. It's a shame. It was 20 seconds into the third round," she explained. "It was a nightmare."

Li went on to secure the silver medal.

However, Sydes remains upbeat and confident she can do well – if selected – in May's European Championships in Hungary. "That's the next big competition," she said. "If I get selected I could do quite well." She would head into these Championships in great heart having beaten the Slovakian

Sting in the Tayl

After missing out on trio, Hawks boss hopes to nick neighbours' top assets

By ALAN SCOTT
Sports Editor

IT might be in the 10 Commandments that you shouldn't covet your neighbour's property, but Hawks boss Danny Chapman is poised to poach two strikers from rivals to re-ignite his attack.

Having missed out on three Ryman division one north strikers, the Harlow Town boss has now set his sights on two neighbouring Essex Senior League teams.

Chapman has made an approach for high-scoring Takeley forward Greig Taylor, while he has almost completed the signing of Sawbridgeworth Town striker Scott Williams.

The Hawks boss suffered disappointment in his bid to land Potters Bar Town frontman Anton Agdomar, who rejected a move to Barrows Farm late on Friday to re-sign for Blue Square Bet Premier side Forest Green Rovers.

"I have tried to sign three forwards," said Chapman as he looks to replace Jeff Hammond, who has now switched from Billericay to Grays. "All said yes but then all three let me down. Anton agreed to sign at nine on Friday but then at ten he had changed his mind and go somewhere else.

"We worked extremely hard on that deal, especially [assistant boss] Paul West-Hook. He got Potters Bar to de-register him, but the player let us down. That was a big disappointment."

Chapman also missed out on former Bishop's Stortford, Tilbury and Brentwood striker Sherwin Stanley, who talked himself out of a move to Harlow.

"He wanted to be here but he over-priced himself," added Chapman.

The third striker the Hawks missed out on was Waltham Forest hitman Corey Whiteley, who has instead gone for a trial with Ian H o l l o w a y ' s Championship leaders Crystal Palace.

So Chapman has looked closer to home with moves for Williams and Taylor, who have been banging in the goals this season.

"I will sit down with [coach] Danny Brown and Paul West-Hook and work out our next targets to bring in. We have got to get at least one striker in and hopefully two.

ON THE MOVE?

Greig Taylor (HSP0870046) and, inset, Scott Williams (HSP0855142)

"Scott did well in training last night (Tuesday) and looks to have an instinctive touch for goal.

"Hopefully he can be the goalscorer that we have been looking for." Chapman also hopes to bring in forward Ryan Flack from Blue Square Bet South side Welling United.

Brit goes puck to the future

A FORMER Harlow schoolboy has been selected to represent Great Britain in the U-20 World Ice Hockey Junior Championships in Ukraine next week.

Andy Brummitt (19), who attended St Nicholas School in Old Harlow, is a netminder [goalkeeper] and will be part of a squad that takes on five countries in Donesk.

The tournament starts on Monday and Great Britain will play Ukraine, Kazakhstan, Poland, Italy and Croatia in division 1B.

If GB win they would get promoted to division 1A. Brummitt was selected after he recovered from a hand injury and then came through trials in Sheffield in mid-November.

Brummitt trains daily and plays for Hull Stringrays in the British Elite League but has been on loan at his old club, English National League side Chelmsford Chieftains.

He said: "I am delighted to be picked and very excited to be part of the squad. My coach at Hull, Sylvain Cloutier, put in a good word for me.

"Teams like Kazakhstan and Ukraine will be very tough, but if we work together we can get a medal."

Brummitt started playing ice hockey in Chelmsford at the age of four.

He played his entire junior career for Chelmsford, earning huge success.

In August 2011, he was signed by Hull and his game has improved dramatically
